

The screenshot displays the SDB-Browser interface, which is a web-based tool for accessing safety data sheets (SDS). The interface features a search bar at the top with filters for 'Artikl.', 'Identik.', and 'Land'. Below the search bar, a list of countries is shown, including Slowakei, Österreich, Dänemark, EU, Finnland, Frankreich, Tschechien, Türkei, Ukraine, and Griechenland. The main table lists substances with columns for 'Artikl.', 'Identik.', 'Land', 'Sprache', 'Produktgruppe', and 'PDF'. The 'PDF' column contains red buttons with the text 'PDF', indicating that the safety data sheets are available for download. The table is filtered to show results for '(20) Austria, Belgien, Deut...'. The substances listed include 'Gefahrstoff XY' and 'Gefahrstoff X' with various identification numbers (e.g., 0815, 0813, 0814). The languages listed include 'franzoesisch', 'schwedisch', 'niederländisch', 'deutsch', and 'portugiesisch'. The 'Produktgruppe' column is currently empty, and the 'PDF' column contains red buttons with the text 'PDF'. The 'Ausble...' column contains checkboxes.
